

SEWA

Sewa concept in Vishwa Dharma and its impact

Sewa should be selfless service to the living entities. It is rightly said that service to mankind is the service of God.

The concept of Sewa I learnt was from my school. Initially, as a child I thought helping the poor with money is Sewa or service. But slowly in school I realized bringing a smile or giving happiness to mankind is Sewa by giving selfless service.

Every year in school we went to various orphanages. Other classes also went to old age homes, blind School etc.

This made me continue in my life and made me understand the values. Spending time with these orphanage children made me realize the importance of time and their happiness.

Currently being in foreign country, these are not possible very often. But thanks to our Balagokulam where I get this opportunity to do the service. Bringing a smile on our kids, sharing our culture, teaching them values etc.

Showing Small gratitude to this country too like cards to the teachers in school and kita. Looking forward to visiting old age homes and some service to people here.

No matter where you are, serve people. Sewa is not only to help people but spending time with them, sharing knowledge, build our culture to continue doing Sewa etc. Let's make sure our future generations continue doing it.

The impact by doing these activities is simple. We receive happiness and blessings. After all service to mankind is the service of God.

Courtesy: Depositphotos

.....

By: Apurva D
Shakha: Dresden
Age Group: Anya Gana